DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 1/9/2008 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sasaki et al (EP 1341038 or 7,108,951; column and line citations are for the EP document).

Sasaki et al disclose a photosensitive resin comprising and a photoacid generator. The resin may comprise a variety of specific types of monomers, including those meeting the structural limitations of the instant formulas I-1 and I-2 ([0095], F-29 to F-33, F-35 to F-38); B-5-B-15; pages 36 and 37). Such monomers may be employed in combination, and I-1 in the claimed amount as in one of the many inventive samples, j-29. The composition also comprises a solvent, surfactant, and diffusion inhibitor ([0191]-[0200]).

Given the teachings of the reference, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill of the art to prepare the material of Sasaki et al choosing to employ the monomers described above in combination and/or in the amounts as instantly claimed.
